Is it better to leave what you have behind for others or give it all away now? Interesting question, isn't it?

For Judas and for us when we emulate him, know that Judas didn't really betray JESUS for money;
He betrayed HIMSELF for money.

Our use of His money expresses what we think of Him.

Money is a great SERVANT, but a terrible MASTER.

God wants to take care of our needs and give us enough to share with others too.
Money is most valuable when it is put to work helping people.

Your use of His money shows what you think of Him.

If all the countries of the world are in debt, where did all the money go?

God's blessing of money is designed to go through us not just to come to us.

Instead of asking, "Lord, how much of this money should I give to you?"
Ask, "Lord, how much of your money should I keep?"

Think having lots of money will make you happy? Here's what Henry Ford said after getting lots of it,
"I was happier doing a mechanic's job."

God's unconditional love and Jesus' amazing grace are the two primary motivators for why we give.

From love of money; from hardness of heart; contempt for your word; and your laws—good Lord deliver us.

It is no longer, "How do I want to spend my money?"
It is now, "God, how do you want me to spend Your money?"

Do you trade what you have – a shortage of time – for something you have – a surplus of money?

How can you hope to have a financial plan that is God's will if the advisors you are working with don't even know who God is?

Are you financially sick to your stomach?

The difference between financial independence and financial freedom? Independence is from GOD, Freedom is from THINGS. Which are you seeking?
